On to the study

Dear Reader,
We are conducting a short survey about reading and reading events like Richard and Judy's Book Club as part of a project funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council (www.ahrc.ac.uk). Your participation is greatly appreciated! The survey will take approximately 20 minutes to complete, and, when you are finished, you simply need to push "submit" and your survey responses will be sent to us. As a thank you for your time and thoughts, and with your permission, your name will be entered into a draw for a £100 gift voucher from a book shop of your choice.

Our universities subscribe to ethical standards for conducting research and seek to protect the interests, comfort, and safety of those who participate in our research at all times. Any information that is obtained during this study will be confidential. Knowledge of your identity is not required, unless you want your name entered into the thank-you draw, and/or unless you provide us with the opportunity to speak with you further. The information collected in this survey will be held in a secure location at the researchers’ universities. On the completion of our three-year study in 2008, data will be lodged in an electronic archive located in Oxford, which is managed by the Arts and Humanities Data Service (www.ahds.ac.uk), but only after the removal of any information that might identify individuals.

The information that we gather from this study will help us better understand why some people participate in book events and why others do not. We also hope to understand the role of reading in people’s lives. This information will be beneficial not only to us and to the organisers of reading events, but also to policy makers, teachers, librarians, and to readers like yourself.

If you have concerns about this research, please contact Dr. Tony Davis, Assoc. VP of Research, Mount Saint Vincent University, Halifax, NS, Canada [phone number]. He is at arms-length from this research project.

The results of this study are available to you, upon its completion, by contacting us: DeNel Rehberg Sedo, [postal and email addresses] or Danielle Fuller, [postal and email addresses]
